The lecture begins at 7.30pm.
- MH reviewed the progress of weeks 1 and 2 of the project.
- AG informed the team about two forthcoming documentaries (Tony Robinson and 'Time Team' at the Rose; Simon Schama's is also forthcoming. (Note, eventually can we reproduce short sections from the two films?) AG to email details to PS.
- MH to ask Heather Knight about involving Julian Bowsher in some capacity, as he works with various experts at the Museum of London.
- MH / PS to ask Heather Knight about map costing, though this appears to be available free of charge (GE). (This is relevant to the 3rd Nov. meeting also).
- PS / MH to view KCL's Open Street Map of London alongside further viewings of Google Maps.

- AG pointed out that the BL owns the permissions for the Braun and Hogenberg map of London (though they may allow this for no cost).
- PS gave a review of progress and outline of forthcoming activities.
- GE: WP1 (map) needed as a rough working copy end of November.
- GE: WP2 (website) already live; to be updated in more detail after 3 Nov. meeting.
- It was decided by all present to launch the talks on Tuesday 23rd April 2013, with a further 9 talks to follow every 2 weeks. The first to be given by AG. The main V&A lecture theatre to be booked each time, 1.30-5.30.
- PS to ask GM about suitable room for meeting on Nov. 3rd (larger group; projector needed)
- PS to find out about appropriate photography of V&A collection (for instance, can flash photography be used?)

- AG advised MH and PS to include Middle Temple on the St Paul's walk. AG expressed concerns about the accuracy of modern London maps, including the A-Z (visual distortions).
- Discussion of surviving early modern maps.
- PS to ask VE to book small room for next team meeting, agreed for 2.30 pm on Tuesday 13th December.
- MH to pursue overseas link in terms of web resources / images.
- GE pointed out that the team will eventually have to settle on a 'narrative' about the moving of Theatre timbers to the Globe site. (Discussion of the original lease was relevant here).

Technical Meeting: V&A, 3rd November at 1.30 pm.

Next Team Meeting: V&A, Tuesday 13th December at 2.30 pm.
